SLEUTHS SLOWLY SPIN CRIME WEB Italy and France Will Seek Debt Terms Like Belgium's FORD PURCHASE AT ALBANY SEEN

RAILROAD BUILDING SPUR ALONG WESTERN BOUNDARY

ALBANY WILL NOT BELIEVE DENIALS
ISSUED BY GILL ESTATE
ABOUT SALE

Despite denial by John Gill and other members of the Gill Estate, owners of the Gill Estate at Albany, that the Ford Motor company has purchased 120 acres of the property for the establishment of a new Pacific Coast assembling plant, rumors that the deal for the property actually already has been consummated were again current in Albany yesterday.

That the big motor car company intends to construct a big assembling plant on the Gill Estate which is located south of El Cerrito hill, is indicated by the work being done by the Southern Pacific company in building a spur track along the Western boundary of the property, a prominent Albany business man pointed out last night. The work has been going on for the past several months, it is said.

Purchase of Richmond industrial property by Ford was rumored several years ago, Ford having on several occasions sent representatives here to inspect proposed sites. One of the demands made by Ford representatives at that time was that the property should have access to water transportation.

Richmond Theater Manager Hits Back Lick At Cupid After Fuss

"No more shall Cupid interfere with the California Revue!" Thus quoth Harry Losh, assistant manager of the West Coast theatres in Richmond. Losh says stage girls have an annoying habit of getting married. That wouldn't be so terrible if they didn't quit the show just when they are needed most. Last week Maxine Max, whose real name was Myrtle Cottrell, slipped away from rehearsal and came back married—and quit right there, leaving the show to get along the best it could, while she let her husband, Bert White, do her worrying for her. Another of the circuit attractions, Fontella La Pierre, and astonished her companions by meeting her Romeo Sunday and marrying him Wednesday—and then quit. But not before she was kidnapped by her companions and made to finish the show. So Losh determined not to have any more upsets in his shows due to Dan Cupid's interference. He has drawn up new contracts for the players, inserting a clause that no player shall get married during the life of the contract. More than that, those players who are married must stay married until the contract is out. All previous contracts will be voided and the new ones substituted.

PROFESSOR MAX MASON ELECTED PRESIDENT OF UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO

Max Mason, professor of mathematical physics at the University of Wisconsin, has accepted election as president of the University of Chicago.

CLEAR GROUND FOR NEW HOTEL

First indications that officials of the Richmond Community hotel are getting down to the actual business of the construction of the new building were seen yesterday.

The lots owned by the company were burned over to remove the grass in preparation for the excavation work. It is expected that the ground will be broken in about 13 days.

Charles B. Hamilton of Bakersfield, lessee of the Richmond Community hotel, and the board of directors of the hotel company have approved the plans and specifications as submitted by James W. Plachek, Berkeley architect.

Duplicates will be made of the specifications and blue prints of the plans. As soon as this is done bids will be called for.

It was announced yesterday that pictures of those prominent in the organization and financing of the enterprise would be hung about the walls of the hotel.

NEW BUSINESS BLOCKS PLANNED

Within the next 30 days two new business buildings will be started in Richmond. One will be at the southwest corner of Tenth and Macdonald and the other will be on Macdonald between Twenty-second and Twenty-third streets.

Both of the new buildings will be erected by F. A. Muller of Oakland, who owns a number of valuable pieces of property in this city.

Those now occupying the building at the corner of Tenth and Macdonald have received notice to vacate and it is understood that Muller has tenants for both of the new buildings.

The Tenth street corner buildings will be two stories in height, with stores on the ground floor, and offices above.

STRIKERS PUT DOWN TOOLS IN ORDER

Workmen Leave Shifts Without Any Idea of Returning
Tomorrow

MAY BE ON STRIKE 2 MONTHS

Sympathetic Strike by Bituminous
Miners Not Looked for by Officers

(By Universal Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 29.—The gigantic anthracite coal strike has started. Quietly and on a fractional basis, 10,000 workers downed their tools today with presumably no intention of carrying on until the strike is officially called at the end of the various mine ticks. Monday, this was believed to have been done at the call of John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America.

The men left the mine as though they were knocking off work for a holiday—a holiday made pleasant by the prospect of a layoff for a month or two. There was none of the tenseness so often coupled with the inauguration of a great labor drive. Pump men are at their posts, probably to remain there until the strike is officially called.

No disorder is expected.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 29.—Illinois coal miners want to dig coal, not strike.

President Frank Farington, of District 12, United Mine Workers of America, said he did not believe the bituminous miners, who number 600,000, will strike with the anthracite coal miners who have received orders to stop work Monday night.

Albany Trustees Assert They'll Oust John Paul

Refusing to give up his post as judge in the recorder's court, Judge John H. Paul of Albany faces ousting September 1.

That was made known by the city trustees yesterday, when they indicated that George Hickman would be appointed to the post. They had asked Judge Paul to vacate "in the interests of efficiency."

Hickman graduated from the University of California law school last year. He resides at 914 Ventura avenue, Albany, has been engaged in the practice of law in San Francisco since graduating from the university. He was formerly in the office of Garret McEnerney, prominent San Francisco attorney and for recent months has been in practice on his own behalf.

Hickman was formerly president of Beta Delta Phi, legal fraternity. Hickman was married during his college course to Miss Luella Anderson, a co-ed, the ceremony coming as a result of a school-day romance.

Hickman will serve on a part-time basis, holding night court as now conducted by Judge Paul.

Stanley MacDonald of the Mechanic Bank, is leaving this morning for Calistoga, where he plans to spend the next two weeks.

This room is 35 feet below the earth's surface. Other scientists who have weighed the earth have fixed the weight at about six thousand million million tons—the figure 6 followed by 21 ciphers.

ANTIOCH MAN DIES IN FALL

ANTIOCH, Aug. 29.—Overcome with dizziness, Frank J. Bigelow, resident of Antioch for many years, was killed shortly after midnight Friday night when he fell from a platform 30 feet to the bottom of a concrete pit, fracturing his skull and breaking his neck. Death was instantaneous.

The body was discovered by fellow workmen about 1 o'clock. Bigelow had worked for the paper mills for many years. He had eaten his lunch at midnight with fellow employees and was not seen until his body was discovered at the bottom of the pit.

The deceased was 64 years old, born on Sherman Island and had lived in Antioch for about 46 years. He leaves four sons: Will, Cellus, Judson and Harold and two daughters, Mrs. Alva Hodgson and Mrs. Harry Meihan, all of Antioch. Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home of Mrs. Hodgson.

Fire in Home Is Quickly Quenched

Fire broke out in the home of Mrs. Rosalie Chavez, 440 Fourth street, shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The fire was small and of undetermined origin. No damage was caused. Engines No. 2, and No. 3, Truck No. 1, and Chemical No. 1, of the Richmond Fire department responded to the alarm.

At noon yesterday there was a gas fire on Nevin avenue, between Eighth and Ninth streets. Chemical No. 1, responded to the alarm, extinguishing the blaze without damage.

ARMY OF MYSTERY HUNTERS BELIEVED NEARING THE GOAL

DR. HEINRICH'S REPORT AWAITED AS FRAGMENTS OF EVIDENCE ARE PIECED TOGETHER

Slowly but surely the corps of puzzle solvers working on the tulle murder mystery are closing in on the perpetrator of the crime.

OPTIMISTIC SPIRIT

That was the prevailing feeling of optimism last night as the baffling case drew close to the end of the first week of searching, quizzing, and guessing.

DISCOVERY NEAR

Captain E. W. Shirley of the Richmond police force, who has been working on the location and identification end of the crime during the last week, now believes he is on the track of a discovery which may reveal the place where the crime was committed, the present location of the body, and then perhaps a clue to the guilty party.

SCIENCE TO HELP

He has turned over the clothes found near the swamp, belonging to the murdered woman, to the scientific head of the investigation, Dr. Edward O. Heinrich, of Berkeley. Soil tests have been made of the stains found on the clothing.

These tests will be compared to those now being made of the specimens of beach soil gathered in the vicinity of the swamp. By this means the investigators will be able to determine whether the crime was committed in Contra Costa county or in Alameda county. DRAGGED THROUGH SAND Stains on the clothing found indicating that the body was dragged through beach sand. It is also believed that the crime was committed in Oakland. Captain Shirley says the newspaper found in every case were Oakland papers, indicating that handy files of old Oakland papers were available where the crime was committed.

ROWE NOT WANTED

Disappearance of Gordon Rowe, closely connected with the mystery case, is not believed to indicate anything unusual to the officers. They attribute his flight to desire to escape the public eye, and not to any move to evade the law.

DROP OUT OF CASE

The two Oakland professional men at first strongly under suspicion due to revelations in letters of the slain women, are practically eliminated from the case.

WILD RUMORS

Reports that a part of the woman's skull had been found about a mile south of the tule pond by boys were circulated late last night. These rumors were denied by the police, who said they had no knowledge of such a find.

BLOODY SHIRT SCARE

The finding of two bloody shirts in a Richmond laundry was also run down yesterday by Officer H. A. Messenger. He found only that two men had become overly zealous in an argument as one of the features in a "night out."

MRS. NEWELL DIES AT HOME

Mrs. Sarah Newell passed away last evening at the home of her daughter, Mrs. C. L. Mitchell, 427 Macdonald avenue, after an illness extending over several weeks. Mrs. Newell came to Richmond only two weeks ago to reside with her daughter.

Her husband, David Newell, is also now residing in Richmond. He is a retired Baptist minister, having served that church for over 50 years.

Mrs. Newell, who was 75 years of age, is survived, besides her husband, by four daughters: Mrs. Mitchell of Richmond; Mrs. D. L. Dotson and Mrs. W. W. Wildman, both of De Moines, Iowa; Mrs. Al Francis, of Utica, Kansas; and three sons: Geo. Newell, of England; E. R. Newell, of Mobile, Alabama; and E. S. Newell, of Beaver Falls, Pennsylvania.

She was also the mother of the late William H. Newell, who died at Stockton, but who for several years was employed on the street railway cars of Richmond.

The body is at the Wilson and Kratzer parlors. Arrangements for the last rites are pending.

FIXTURE PLANT RUMOR IS HOAX

Emphatic denial was made yesterday by N. W. Sterns, president of the Pacific Plumbing Fixtures company, to the reports published in the afternoon papers that the Standard Fixtures company of Pittsburgh, Pa., was to establish a plant in Richmond.

Sterns said he was at a loss to understand how the rumors became circulated, but declared he was positive the company would not build a plant in Richmond or any other Pacific Coast city.

DEBTOR NATIONS GAIN ANOTHER POINT IN PRE-ARMISTICE LOAN

(By Universal Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29. The action of the United States in differentiating between pre-armistice and post-armistice loans abroad in the Belgian debt settlement will be used as an entering wedge by both France and Italy in efforts to obtain partial cancellation of their debts, it was learned authoritatively today.

Officials both in Paris and in Rome, it was revealed, believe that the debtor governments won a distinct victory when the American debt commission abandoned its previously adhered to policy and varied interest payments on the $172,000,000 borrowed by Belgium before the armistice.

Despite the disapproval of President Coolidge and members of the debt commission, the American concession is regarded as opening the way for dealing with the pre-armistice advances upon an entirely different basis from the post-armistice advances.

If M. Caillaux and the Italian commission succeed in carrying their point it was stated today that it will reduce their payments, and those of the other nations which remain to be funded to the United States, by approximately three billion, five hundred million dollars over a period of sixteen years.

In the case of France, it is pointed out, there pre-armistice advances approximated $2,000,000,000 of the total of $1,211,000,000 now owned by the Paris government.

Cancellation of accrued and future interest payments on this enormous total would reduce the aggregate French obligations to a point where an annual payment of $70,000,000 over 62 years would fund the balance.

DIVORCES INCREASE FASTER THAN MARRIAGES

While the number of marriages consummated annually in the United States is increasing somewhat the number of divorces secured is growing greater by leaps and bounds, according to a survey made by the federal census bureau and made public recently. The 1923 figures were compared with those of 1906, 1916 and 1922. Two thirds of all the divorces granted in 1923 were to couples who had been married less than ten years.

The marriage rate, based on population was lower than in 1916 in the United States as a whole. There was a slight increase in the rate in 1923, however, as compared with 1922. Sometimes the variance of the marriage rate in various states from one year to the next is due to new marriage laws. And the rate is higher in some states than others because of non-resident couples who come in because of the marriage laws. Concerning divorces the report continues:

"The number of divorces per 100,000 total population and the number per 100,000 married population were higher in each geographic division in 1923 than in 1922, and higher in 1922 than in 1916. On each basis, the Middle Atlantic division ranked lowest, in 1923, 1922 and 1916; and the Pacific division had the highest rates except that in 1922 and again in 1923 the West South Central division ranked highest in number of divorces per 100,000 married population.

"There are marked differences among the geographic divisions in the prevalence of divorce. Thus, in 1923, the divorce rates based on 100,000 total population varied from 59 in the Middle Atlantic to 260 in the Pacific division, while the divorce rates on 100,000 married population varied from 143 in the Middle Atlantic to 626 in the West South Central division. Each rate was over four times as high in the highest as in the lowest ranking division; and similar wide variations existed among the divisions in 1922 and in 1916.

"Of the forty-eight states which grant divorces, forty showed an increase in 1923 as compared with 1922 in the divorce rate per 100,000 total population, and forty an increase in the rate per 100,000 married population. In 1922 thirty-eight states showed an increase in each rate over that for 1916."

During the last campaign the opposition said Coolidge didn't talk much. His policy of tax reduction and economy in the government's business means more to the folks who work for a living than all the oratory that was ever let loose.

It proved to be nothing more serious than influenza, but was at first thought Mr. D'Annunzio was coming down with another poem.

Large Squares of Velvet Make Effective Evening Wraps For Autumn.

THE evening wrap plays a far more important role in the wardrobe of the woman of fashion than it ever did before. Once a woman went to and from evening parties with almost as little attempt to reveal her personality or her natural charms as a poor Arab of the desert clad in her shapeless calico thub.

Now her evening wrap is quite as important as her frock, in fact, it is sometimes more important. Since the evening wrap has become important dressmakers have set about to give it variety and novelty with which to tempt the unwary woman to spend more money. Some of the dressmakers even try to persuade their customers that the present fashion demands a separate wrap for every evening frock.

Among the newest sort for autumn are those that consist of a square of beautiful material and are worn as shawls—not just as the women of mid-Victorian days wore their shawls, but thrown more gracefully over the shoulders and drawn about the body in charming folds.

This fashion is one that ought to appeal to the woman who must make as many of her own clothes as possible. There is nothing in one of these perfectly flat square wraps to tax the abilities of the amateur dressmaker. It is usually about fifty-two inches square and may be alike on all four sides or may have a different border on one side, which is meant to be used about the neck and top. Sometimes it is made of metallic silk, or rich brocade, and sometimes of velvet lined with georgette and edged with fur. Sometimes lovely brocade silk forms the center with a wide border of metallic cloth.

Last year, you know, the fad for evening wraps built on strictly tailored lines spread in a surprising manner. They were usually made of some sort of metal cloth and it seemed as if every woman wanted one, whether she was of the type to whom that sort of evening wrap would be becoming or not. But this year we shall have more to choose from. Some of the new evening wraps are still made on strictly tailored lines. Others are of the cape variety, and still others are of that half-coat, half-cape species that we call dolman. We have indeed a wide variety to choose from.

The sketch shows an evening cape of hois de rose velvet lined and trimmed with fur dyed the same shade.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

WHEN IT RAINS

IT rains every now and again. That's something we might just as well make up our minds to—that it is bound to rain. And if we are of those who do not go outdoors in rainy weather, save when dire necessity forces us to, but who stay within doors and are glum and moody, we might well plan to entertain ourselves on rainy days.

Of course, in these days of motor cars few persons stay indoors from necessity in the rain. And just going out in a closed car is refreshing and invigorating—far better than staying indoors all through a rainy day, or days.

But if you mind the rainy days, as some people do—and they seem to be subject to a particular sort of nerves when the skies are gray and the air is wet—then by all means plan to have special rainy-day work and play. Save some particularly interesting sewing for rainy days. Keep a specially delectable book for rainy-day reading. Work on Christmas gifts in the rain, or paint the attic or cook some special goodies for the children in your family, or invite in three friends for a table of bridge, or write letters to everybody to whom you own one. There must be some interesting things you could think up that would help to make your rainy days less gloomy.

POTATO BALLS

With a French cutter, cut one pint of potato balls; let boil five minutes in salted water; drain, add one-half a cup of milk and heat to the boiling point. Cream two tablespoons of butter; add the yolk of one egg and beat in well; add one tablespoon of lemon juice, one tablespoon of chopped parsley and a dash of paprika. Stir into the potatoes quickly and remove from the heat as soon as boiling point is reached.

Potato Puff

Two cups mashed potatoes, two tablespoons melted butter, two eggs, one-half cup scalded milk, one-half teaspoon salt.

Stir the melted butter into the potato, beat to a white cream; add eggs beaten very light and then the milk and seasonings. Bake in a deep buttered dish, in a quick oven, for twenty minutes, or until nicely browned.

"THE LIMITED MAIL" with Monte Blue, is a dramatization of this story by Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

SYNOPSIS

Jim Foster, mail clerk on the Limited, in riding by a station, had seen his chum, Bob Wilson, freight engineer, being kissed by a strange woman. Bob had known this woman years before, but Jim, knowing nothing of his past life, laughingly recounts the incident to Caroline Dale. Caroline is upset by the revelation, for she is in love with Wilson. Bob wonders how he can explain it when he meets her at that night.

"I've been afraid you two boys were both getting stuck on Caroline. Bob," the Widow ventured, "but I'm glad there ain't no danger of that, since you've got a girl. Ain't you the slick one, though—and us never gettin' wise?"

Somehow Bob managed to smile mechanically and stammer away, more deeply mired in trouble, sicker at heart, than before; astounded at the hinted probability that he had unconsciously grown into rivalry for a girl with his best friend. He tried to laugh it off, but his footsteps dragged as he neared the door of the house where blazing windows betokened unusual preparations and bustling inside; he tried to tell himself that surely Mrs. O'Leary must be mistaken in her deductions for Jim would not and could not have kept such a thing as falling in love from him, yet he remembered with a sinking heart that he had without effort or reason refrained from going out of his way to reveal his own infatuation for Caroline to Jim.

It could not—it must not—he true—that he and Jim were rivals for Caroline; that would be too starkly tragic, too unkind even for the sort of malignant Fate that had harassed him before and now, after a respite of five years, was at work again.

He refused to believe it; and he goaded himself to approach with-out hesitation the door of the little cottage. Nevertheless, something cautioned furtiveness and stealth when he had his hand on the knob; some latent instinct of suspicion, that he was ashamed of but weakly obeyed.

From the hall he could see, without himself being observed, through to the dining room and thence to the kitchen, the doors being open in deference to the humidity of the summer night. Caroline was carrying a frosted birthday cake, which she had obviously just completed, into the dining room; Jim walked close at her side. Bob realized with a queerly hollow thumping in his breast, which seemed tight and peaked, that there could be no mistaking the tender devotion in the way Jim hovered near Caroline; in the way his eyes shone upon her.

As Caroline set the cake down on the table she noticed with a little gasp of dismay that a portion of the soft floating was cascading over the rim of the plate; it was an emergency that required the quick and deft use of a practised forefinger in order to save the table linen from being messed. Then Caroline, laughingly involved, determined to round off the mishap with full childish enjoyment. She raised her cream laden finger to her lips to "lick it." But Jim was too quick for her; he caught her hand to his own lips, and kissed the frosting away in a manner dissembled in fun at first, but under the passionately desired thrill of the contact quickly becoming an ardent caress.

Perhaps Jim had been mistaken in his identification—it was queer, if such a romance had been going on and no one in Crater City knew anything about it. Who could the girl be?

Bob in his bewilderment and pain saw only the attitude of Jim; it was lost on him that a vague frown shadowed Caroline's face, that she was annoyed and flustered momentarily, before she forced herself to smile awkwardly and withdraw her hand.

Bob relaxed limply, stolidly, against the hallway wall as one ill and in a stupor. Through misty eyes, with ears that were filled by a far-off buzzing, Bob saw and heard further confirmation of his worst fears. Jim was showing Caroline how he had arranged the place cards;

"Bob and his girl over there. You, and Bobby, and I on this side—Bobby in the middle—No, I'll change that—you in the middle, so that I can be closer to you—"

That much Bob saw and heard. Again Caroline's reaction was lost on him, for while she reprovingly changed the cards back to their original position and insisted to Jim that Bobby was entitled to the place of honor in the middle of the table, Bob had slipped away along the hall, seeking the seclusion of his own room and a free play of his bitter thoughts.

"Hey, Daddy Bob—where you going? Come in this way and see my cake that the lady made!"

It was Bobby, devastating in his childlike prying brightness, who had caught wind of Bob's quiet presence in the hall. Further concealment was out of the question, but before he turned Bob struggled surreptitiously remained in the shadows of the hall rear until he had fished out of his pocket and adjusted a paper mache mask, a hideous, gargoyleish thing. The clown must amuse, even when his heart breaks!

Bobby fled squealing joyously into the dining room before Bob's leaping, boisterous, pursued, fled, and took refuge under Caroline's apron so that when Bob stepped up and removed the mask in order to get his bearings he found himself face to face, and eye to sad eye, with Caroline. He tried to laugh and effect merriment, but only succeeded in forcing a series of flat and spiritless laughs that hardly passed his throat.

The embarrassment of Caroline and Bob after they had nodded good-evening to one another was mutual and deep; she lowered her eyes and flushed cheeks to the task of setting five candles in the birthday cake, while he grimaced at Jim in an apathetic way then sank to his knees and took refuge in a fustily boisterous presentation of birthday gifts to Bobby.

"Bob, you rascal, postpone your comedy and stand up here and tell us where your girl is. Why haven't you brought her?"

Bob, rising deliberately, was miserably conscious that Caroline, though she kept her eyes on her work, was intently listening. He tried to take solace in an aggrieved, injured rationalization—if he had not come clean with her, she had not been fair with him, either, in not telling him about Jim, and—

"Come, old man, fess up—who is she and where is she? The one I saw you kissing the other night!"

There, it was out; Jim's innocent blundering and misinterpretation had woven, in company with all these other things, a net of circumstantial evidence from which he could wriggle totally clear neither by lies nor by truth. Anyhow, what did it matter now?—again, in the innermost recesses of his brain were echoing the words, "What the hell difference does anything make?" Yet, why was there a dull red glow in Caroline's downcast cheeks, and a dewy mist trembling on her half-closed lashes?

"Why—err— I don't know what you mean, Jim—honestly—Excuse me now, won't you please—I've got to wash up and dress."

Bob felt rather than saw his way wretchedly out of the room, moving with the uncertain feet of a blinded man. Caroline had looked up quickly at his words, thrilling to a fundamental suggestion of honesty and sincerity in them; grasping at them as at straws to save her drowning soul.

Perhaps Jim had been mistaken in his identification—it was queer, if such a romance had been going on and no one in Crater City knew anything about it. Who could the girl be?

"Doug" in Latest Film Attire

Douglas Fairbanks as "Don Q. Son of Zorro," in his latest screen feature in which he steps out of the historic and imaginative character.

Famed Athletic Prowess of Film Star Given Full Play in Picture

Douglas Fairbanks has stepped from the land of fantasy back to the realm of realism for his new picture, "Don Q. Son of Zorro," which is based on the novel, "Don Q's Love Story," by K. and Hesketh Prichard. The new Fairbanks story which will be given its local premiere at the California theatre tomorrow for an engagement of three days bears no relationship whatever to Cervante's celebrated tale, "Don Quixote."

While "Don Q. Son of Zorro," is less fantastic than the last Fairbanks screen offering, it nevertheless is just as spectacular and the production is fully as expensive and stupendous as "The Thief of Bagdad."

Doug performs many spectacular stunts in the new picture, accomplishing no end of seemingly impossible feats with a mule's whip. This, in fact, is his chief weapon, and with it he disarms and defeats his enemies.

Manuel delos Rios, famous bull fighter of Seville, taught Doug the art of cape work as practiced in the bull ring, and thus enabled him to overcome a bull which runs amuck in the streets of the Andalusian town where much of the action of the play takes place.

"This story, on the other hand, brings us back to the land of possibilities—of things that are. We present a very human story, one that we feel is picturesque and appealing. The Prichard novel forming the basis of our photoplay, has in it all the elements for the greatest romantic melodrama ever screened."

Varied color schemes on the improved Jewett Six models offered this week at lower prices are of the most striking combinations," says Emmett Smyth. The DeLuxe Sedan is finished in a two tone gray with jet black top.

Ivory lines are between the belt mouldings on all models. The Standard Coach is finished in a durable, yet pleasing green. The DeLuxe Touring car and coach are in beige brown. The DeLuxe Roadster is finished in the same two tones of gray as the sedan.

"Polly of Follies" Brings Lively Looking Ladies

"Polly of the Follies" which comes to the California theatre today with Allyn Lewis and company of sprightly ladies and popular principals is a riot of laughter from start to finish. There is snap to the dialogue and situations that are intensely funny.

"Susie" "That's the kind of a girl" "You will find me waiting for you" "Whistle when you walk out" are some of the song successes to be heard.

"Polly of the Follies" is said to be one of the best revues offered at the California theatre in many moons.

Coming as the headliners of the three big acts of vaudeville are the rollicking comedy duo Harry Young and Helen Mayne in a consoling act of eccentric dancing, singing and snappy chatter entitled "Two Saps."

In "Bursts of Melody" Marshall and Shannon present a somewhat different musical oddity. It is an unusual musical act of a pianist and xylophonist, who are bound to please.

A new and original canine offering is "Bernardo's Dogs." They do almost impossible acrobatic feats that are most astonishing. These dogs are the first and only ones in the world to accomplish such tricks which will please both the grown-ups and the little ones.

On the screen Babe Daniels will be seen as the cute little cutie in her latest Paramount picture "The Manicure Girl."

And what a comical, clowning cut-up she is. Babe's comedy talent never twinkled so brightly as in "The Manicure Girl." Edmund Burns is her leading man, and Hale Hamilton Dorothy Cumming, Mary Foy and others appear in the cast.

If you enjoy a good laugh, don't miss this one.

Other features on the same program include "Props Dash For Cash," a comedy riot; "Kinograms" world news events; Carl Richard's California orchestra; Larry Canelo at the mammoth organ.

Jackie Coogan Play Is Booked On Local Screen

Just as Robinson Crusoe of juvenile fiction fame found his "Friday," so has Jackie Coogan, modern counterpart of Daniel Defoe's book hero, discovered his "Friday."

It all came about when the director spent days of patient effort with the different cats, trying to make the feline "Friday" and play "Friday" to Jackie's "Crusoe." Finally he threw up the sponge and ordered the cat episode stricken from the story.

But little did he reckon with a nine-year-old boy's love for animals.

Jackie was dismayed but undaunted. He went home and waited in his back yard until the big black tom cat, a daily visitor on the Coogan fence, appeared, and coaxing the wary animal to him, carried him off to the studio next day. And strange to relate, the cat took direction like an old trouper and has the important role of "Friday" in Jackie's newest Metro-Goldwyn release, "Little Robinson Crusoe," which comes to the Richmond theatre today.

"Friday's" salary will be a fried fish, two pieces of liver and a ball of catnip daily, with the provision that if he is a good cat he will have

Much Depends on Outcome of Game Richmond High Enters Next Friday

Is Coach Ivan Hill pushing his football team ahead too fast by pitting it against the powerful University high eleven on next Friday afternoon, just about two weeks after the beginning of practice?

If the University high wins will the setback at the very beginning of the season throw the Richmond team into a slump that will remain throughout the season?

These two questions are now assuming gigantic proportions in the minds of the followers of the pigskin pastime in this city.

Hill's team was greatly weakened this year by the loss of a number of its stars. Dick Paasch, Charley Birch, Pat Chatterton and Carl Gerhardt, departing from high school life, took the backbone out of the line while Carol Pickford, R. Gopaviez, Hastings, Sargent and Bunyay Muth have wrought disaster on the back field by their absence.

Nevertheless in the place of these last year's stars, Hill has under a home for the rest of his days in Jackie's attic.

Other features on the same program include "The Iron Mule," a comedy riot; "Kinograms" world news events.

Definition of summer is "A time of the year when a county relative comes in mighty handy."

Power Increase Is Factor For Buicks

In naming its 1926 product "the Better Buick," the Buick factory has not merely coined a new advertising phrase; the 1926 Buick is definitely a better car in many important ways. So declares C. C. Kratzer, local Buick dealer.

Greater power is perhaps the most outstanding improvement in Buick's 1926 line. The Master Six now offers 75 horsepower, with a speed of 75 miles an hour. The Standard Six now provides 60 horsepower and a speed of 70 miles per hour.

Buick's famous Valve-in-Head engine has been made even more efficient in operation; this extra power and speed has been made possible without any decrease in the economy of operation.

STROM EXPANDS ON ROAD LURES

"The man with an automobile certainly gets a big dividend on his investment when September days roll around," says J. P. Strom, Hudson-Essex automobile merchant.

"Harvest in the country is a lure for the town dweller. And not a little of the city man's Fall and Winter provisioning is done on these Fall trips. Moreover, increasing numbers are vacationing in the autumn months—especially the sportsman.

"This is an ideal time to buy a car. By Winter the car will be well broken in, and ready to carry its owner through weather that will keep the careless family indoors."
